Digestive Cordial has such an immediate and salutary effect is that it causes the food eaten to be digested, for it is undigested food that causes the distress.
The Cordial causes the food to be digested before there is time for it to ferment and sour on the stomach. When the food is so digested it gives strength and vigor to the feeble body, makes one feel bright and cheerful, and makes one gain in fiesh.
The Digestive Cordial is so prompt in its action that the very first dose will have a perceptibly favorable result. It

You then say, "But the Board of Trustees are under the control of the synods of Virginia and North Carolina, and when the Synod of Virginia met in Danville last October a resolution was offered intended to stop the movement for changing the location of the seminary. This resolution was discussed at great length and DEFEATED BY AN OVER-WHELMING MAJORITY."
This emphasized clause (emphasis mine) is one that has been persistently presented. But it evidently arises from a misapprehension of facts. I cut from the printed minutes of the Synod of Virginia of October, 1894, the following official records, pasting them on my manuscripts, that there may be no mistake, even in the transcription:

"The order of the day was taken upsthe paper offered by Rev. Dr. McIlwaine:
"Whereas, the Trustees of Union Theological Seminary have by resolution appointed a committee to receive propositions looking to the removal of that institution from its present location; and whereas the people of Prince Edward are so deeply concerned in regard to this movement that they have inaugurated an effort to secure the extension of the Farmville and Powhatan railroad from Farmville by Hampden Sidney to a point adjacent to the county of Charlotte, which is believed will be carried further and open up connections with one, perhaps several other railroads, thus making the seminary easily accessible from several directions: therefore (Page 318.)

"Pending the discussion of Dr. McIlwaine's paper, the following paper was presented as a substitute by the Rev. R. P. Kerr. D. D.:

was "defeated by an overwhelming majority."

The fact is, many of us who are, as at present advised, unalterably opposed to the removal of the seminary were not willing to vote for Dr. Mcliwaine's resolution because it seemed to some that such action would morally estop any future movement under any circumstances, provided the Farmville and Powhatan railroad should be extended.

Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof, and we did not wish to borrow trouble at a discount. But if that committee of the board and those generous gentlemen around Richmond are banking on the idea that the adoption of a motion to lay Dr. Kerr's substitute on the table, carrying with it Dr. Mcliwaine's resolution, was an indication of an overwhelming majority in the synod in favor of the removal of the seminary, they are grievously mistaken.

We are willing to let them travel around and exargine sites and collect funds, but when the time comes for the synod to act there will be a gathering of the clans or a clearing of decks for a battle-royal, to which the magnificent fight before the synod, left undecided by an unfortunate flank movement, will be a mere skirmish.

It is a man or woman who is sent by God to make known to others His great love for us all, which He showed by giving His only begotten and beloved Son to die for our sins. And who was the greatest missionary that was ever on earth? It was our Lord Jesus Christ himself. He said that He was sent or appointed a missionary by the Father to ciples, "as the Father sent Me into the world or appointed Me to be a missionary, even so I send you. With reference to the first matter, Superintendent Adams said that Townes had been allowed to remove the ashes from the gas-house, his compensation being such bits of coke as he might get from these ashes by sifting them after he had removed them from the premises. Mr. Adams remarked that he had investigated generally the alleged increase in gas and that, from some comparative figures compiled in the gas office, it did not appear that there was any unreasonable increase in the quantity of gas shown by the meters to have been consumed. WORK OF THE WINONA.

But for Its Timely Succor Several Persons Would Have Perished. New Berne (N. C.) special to the ore Sun says: The revenue-cutter Winona, Captain W. S. Simmons, comeven sad people happy. During the gale that started in on the 7th instant the schooner Venus, of Pair Creek, N. C., and the sloop Hattle Peterson, of Washington, N. C., put into Indian Island harbor, Pamilico river, for shelter. The Hattle Peterson anchored close under lee of Indian Island, and the Venus came to the state of the sea thank of the sea thank. Indian Island, and the Venus came to about a mile to the eastward. During the night of the 7th the crew of the Peterson suffered intensely for want of food and fuel, and Joe Roy had his fingers badly frozen. Early in the morning of the 8th they began firing guns and making signals to attract the attention of the revenue-cutter Winoga, that had anchored for shelter about half a mile away.

As soon as day broke a boat was sent from the Winona to the Peterson, and the distressed crew were taken on board the cutter and cared for. On account of the heavy gale and icy weather the crew of the Peterson were unable to get azbore in their little half-swamped skiff, and even if they could have reached Indian Island they would have found nothing to keep soul and body together. The members of the Peterson's crew were Captain Reuben Stryron, Joe Roy, and members of the Peterson's crew were captain Reuben Stryron, Joe Roy, and W. B. Davis, the latter of Wilmington and the others of Washington, N. C. About noon a signal of distress was set in the rigging of the Venus, and the Winona got her anchor and steamed down to the schooner, anchoring hard by. A boat was sent through the heavy sea with a long line to haul it back from the Venus and Cantain Siterthory rewith a long line to haul it back from the Venus, and Captain Silverthorn re-ported his crew of three and his four passengers had exhausted their supply of provisions and fuel. These wants were supplied by the cutter, which then steam-ed back to her former anchorage, the position of the Venus being considered position of the Venus being considered not dangerous.

During the night of the 5th the harbor froze over and the drift ice carried down by the heavy gale caused the Venus to drag her two anchors, and Captain Silverthorn was in fear of being cut down. In the early morning of the 5th the people on the Venus had about decided to set another distress signal, when the cutter was seen plowing her way through the ice toward them. Through wind and ice again a hoat was sent to the Venus to again a boat was sent to the venus to see if anything was needed, and Captain Silverthorn asked that his passengers be cared for on the cutter, as his little skiff was barely large enough to hold himself and his two men if the ice should happen to come down and swamp or strand, the schooner.

Accordingly, the four passengers—attases Molile Respess, of Rausomville; Laura Silverthorn, and Mary Farrow, of Middleton, and Mr. George Roper, of Engehard—were taken on the cutter, where the ladies were quartered in the cabin, and the Winona then started out to try to make the root of New Berne, that to make the port of New Berne, that be any chance of making a landing.

The gale was still high and the ice, in many places, thickly packed, but the Winona behaved well, and successfully fought wind, sea, and ice, finally making port and landing her passengers, some at least of whom would have perished of cold and hunger but for the timely succor given by the brave hearts on the revenue-cutter.

into the penitentiary in 1891, it shows that the criminal expenses put upon the State annually by the whites were $5,-749.57, and by the negroes, $206,018.99."
This exhibit shows that out of the revenues of the State the enormous sum of $608,383.14 is expended on the negroes of Virginia, while the taxes collected from them amount to $163,175.67, an excess of expenditure on them over the revenue from them of $445,307.47.

These are startling figures, even under Democratic State government, but who can say to what extent they would be increased under Republican ascendency dominated by the negro vote in control of the government of Virginia.?

ICE BREAKING UP IN THE JAMES.

Danger to Vessels and Whart Property-Case of Miss Marshall. WILLIAMSBURG, VA., February 13. (Special.)—A messenger from Jamestown Island to-day reports that the ice on the river is fast breaking up, and is piling in mounds in every part of the river. A large schooner is floating about the lower end of the island, and another one is in the same fix just opposite the MRS. HARRIS DEAD.

lower end of the island, and another one is in the same fix just opposite the wharf. There seems to be no one aboard them, and the valuable boats are left to their fate. The handsome new pier at Jamestown recently erected by Mr. Barney is about to succumb to the force of the ice surrounding it. Banks of ice are pressing against it. Already a portion has been carried away, and the rest of it is badly damaged. There is scarcely a doubt that when the ice begins to go in earnest not only this wharf, but all the others on the river will go.

In our County Court to-day, Judge Sydney Smith presiding, a case of importance was heard. This was the application of Mr. J. Frederick Kernachau, of New York, through his attorney, Judge Henley, of this place, to be appointed by the court as agent of the estate of Miss Marie Marshall, an inmate of the Eastern State Hospital. The patition was granted. The bond, which had already been given, was in the penalty of $1,800,000. Miss Marshall is the daughter of the late W. M. Marshall, who once resided in Virginia near Petersburg, but who removed to New York years ago. While here this daughter became insane, and was committed to this hospital in the year 1872, where she has been ever since. She is hopplessly demented, and has an income of $100,000 per year. It is contemplated to erect near the hospital grounds an attractive cottage for her use, so that she may continue under pital grounds an attractive cottage for her use, so that she may continue under the care of the superintendent.
